A $14.7 Million School Budget Still Faces More Cuts, Deficit

By Sue Aucella Deacon

With their first pass on the fiscal 1985 school budget completed, the School Committee has come up with a $14.671 million total, nearly $7,000 more than their $14.665 million limit.

The committee will talk about where to cut that $6,978 next week, Chairman Richard Neal said Tuesday night — along with a more disturbing deficit of $110,000, which will result from cuts in federal funding. School Superintendent Kenneth Seifert will present his recommendations on the larger deficit to the committee next Tuesday night.

But before the school department moves into the next fiscal year, it must deal with a deficit in its current $13.4 million budget. With four months to go before fiscal '84 ends on June 30, the schools are "in a very fluid situation," Business Manager Francis Paul said, but it now appears the school budget will fall short by $67,757.

Paul attributed the deficit to new teachers hired since the school year began in September to ease overcrowding, as well as new bus routes added to cover hazardous neighborhoods.

The committee will seek to make up the shortfall with a special article at annual town meeting next month. The committee voted unanimously (with Donald Robb absent when the vote was taken) to insert an article asking for an appropriation of up to $82,000.

But in the months ahead, the schools will "make every effort to save funds where available," Robert Smith said in his motion favoring the article. Chairman Neal said he would like to see the current deficit reduced "totally, or as much as possible."

Paul told the committee the schools could save some funds this year, but not without "pain to those who would be impacted by it." Savings could come from freezing purchases of textbooks, equipment and teaching supplies, he indicated; Paul said he would return to the committee with recommendations.

Both committee member Susan Poore and acting Assistant Superintendent Richard McGrail noted that they would not like to see such cuts made before town meeting April 2, but would rather try to find savings some time before June 30.

The Board of Selectmen have the authority to reopen the town meeting warrant, which closed last month, to insert the $82,000 school article.

The selectmen discussed the special article Monday night, at Neal's request, but decided not to act on the matter until they could discuss it with a representative of the school department. The selectmen indicated that they would discuss the article again next Monday night.

(Neal explained Tuesday night that although the school committee had not discussed the matter, he had previously discussed the possibility of a special town meeting article with the Finance Committee and Finance and Budget Director Anthony Torissi.)

Committee members finished their first pass on the new fiscal '85 budget this week by approving the transportation account at a total $655,889, and the health services account at a total $123,727.

The transportation account now includes an $18,000 salary for a transportation coordinator, who will double as a purchasing coordinator in the business office.

The business manager said that since the full-time position of transportation coordinator was eliminated Jan. 1, the schools have more need for that position than for the full-time purchasing coordinator now on staff.

Under the new plan, the existing purchasing position will be expanded to include both transportation and purchasing responsibilities, with the emphasis (about two-thirds of the staffer's time) on transportation. The committee voted four-one to approve that plan, with Poore opposed.

The health services account was approved at $116,227 for salaries and $12,500 for expenses. That account covers daily health care for students, emergency first aid, immunizations, counseling and screenings (hearing and vision testing, for exam-

Town House Topics

Final Days For Voter Registration

Tuesday will be the deadline for registration of voters to become eligible to participate in the town election and town meeting.

Two special registration sessions are scheduled for the town clerk's office in the new municipal office building on Bartlet Street, the first on Saturday from 12 noon to 8 p.m. and the second on Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Persons may also register during normal office hours at the town clerk's office.

Those registering should bring some form of residential identification such as a utility or rent bill.

Licenses, Permits Granted

A food license for a new sub shop on Bartlet Street was among the licenses and permits approved by the Board of Selectmen Monday night, during a regular meeting at the new town offices on Bartlet Street.

Tom G. Georges of 59 Wildwood Road and John G. Moutzourgeorgos of 61 Wildwood Road were granted a common victualer's license for King's Subs, soon to open at 11 Bartlet St.

In addition, the Lawrence Exchange Club was given permission for a 6.2-mile road race, a charity benefit, to begin at 11 a.m. Sunday, May 20, at the Lawrence Industrial Park. The route will proceed to the vocational school on River Road, onto North Street, to Chandler Road; to Beacon Street, through the industrial park, and end at the Cerebral Palsy office site off Ballard Road, Lawrence.

A new manager, Armando Garcia of Salem, N.H., was approved for Valle's Steak House, River Road.

And Douglas Mifflin of 32 Morton St. was granted a local auctioneer's license.

Storage Permit Approved

A local industry this week won the selectmen's approval for the storage, both aboveground and underground, of flammable materials.

With the selectmen's permission, Standard Duplicating Machines Corp. of 1 Gillette Way will store 15,000 gallons (in cans) of methanol aboveground, and 5,000 cans of number two oil underground.

The permit was granted after a brief public hearing at the town office building Monday night.

Selectmen Approve IDFA Application

Plans for a nine-acre River Road business park, "Andover Business Park," may be funded with low-interest industrial revenue bonds, with the selectmen's approval.

The selectmen Monday night approved $6.4 million in industrial revenue bonds for the business park proposed by the John Corcoran Co. of East Milton. Part of the nine-acre site, located on the north side of River Road, will be in Lawrence. The 80,000-square foot office building will be leased for research and development use.

The developer must now seek state approval of the revenue bonding. Company officials indicated that construction could begin during March.

Miss Ruel Winner Of Camp Name Contest

Stephanie Ruel, 11, of Andover was the winner of a contest which will result in the Greater Lawrence YMCA Day Camp having a name.

Miss Ruel submitted the name Camp Otter, because, "an otter loves to swim and play just like kids do."

The coed camp, located on Captain's Pond, Salem, N.H., has been nameless for the 43 years of its existence. Thomas McGrath, camp director, explained that "We wanted to create added spirit and enthusiasm and a name for the camp seemed to be the best place to start. Many camps around the country have names that become the center of a camp theme. It's time that our camp became part of that tradition."

Last summer a 'Name The Camp' contest was initiated to help find a proper name. Campers submitted names they felt appropriate along with a brief explanation of why they chose the particular name. The entries came in all summer and into fall. The judges made their decision based on criteria of originality, easy to spell and remember and relevant to the outdoors and camping.

In addition to the winning entry there were 34 runner-ups who will receive T-shirts bearing the camp name and logo.

Camp Otter begins its 44th year June 25 and runs through Aug. 25. Information may be obtained by contacting the camping services office at the YMCA, 40 Lawrence St., Lawrence.

Ms. Munn Studying In London

Gretchen Munn, 2 Shaw Drive, Andover, is one of 66 students from 35 colleges and universities participating in the spring semester of the London Internship Program sponsored by Beaver College, Glenside, Pa., in cooperation with the City of London Polytechnic. The group departed from Kennedy Airport February 6.

The London Internship is a pre-career opportunity to join British professionals in organizations and institutions in the arts, business, government, industry and social services in their daily work. All interns are required to allocate three full working days of each week to their internship activities. The two remaining weekdays are spent in course work at the City of London Polytechnic.

All field assignment placements remain tentative until the prospective interns arrive in London for final discussions and pre-placement interviews.

Munn is a business administration major at the University of New Hampshire.

Treasurer Of Group At University

Several University of Montana students recently formed Hunger, Oppression and Poverty Education (HOPE), an organization committed to increasing awareness of such issues within the Missoula community and throughout the world, according to Mary Small of Andover, treasurer of HOPE.

"HOPE was created to fill a void here at the university," said Small. "No group meets regularly to discuss these issues. Personally, I'd like to see people coming together weekly, even for just one hour."

Small said HOPE members would like to provide weekly information tables at the University Center mall. "We want to learn about issues ourselves," she said, "and then make that information available to the community."

The group plans to organize letter-writing campaigns and raise funds for Oxfam and the Poverello Center.

Arms Control Program At High School Saturday

Greater Boston Physicians for Social Responsibility is sponsoring "The Road to Arms Control," an educational program, at the Andover West Junior High School, Shawsheen Road, Andover, on Saturday, March 3, from noon to 4 p.m.

The program will begin with a showing of "The Day After Trinity: J. Robert Oppenheimer and the Atomic Bomb," which focuses on events preceding July 16, 1945, the day the first atomic bomb shattered the desert sky over New Mexico. Sarah Doering, Master of Divinity and Hospice worker, will deliver a commentary.

Congressman Edward Markey, proponent of the nuclear freeze resolution in the House of Representatives, Prof. Albert Carnesale, academic dean of Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government and co-author of "Living with Nuclear Weapons," and Paul F. Walker, national security analyst of Klein Walker Associates will participate in a panel discussion at 2 p.m. on ways to control the nuclear arms race. Gail Harris, co-anchor of WGBH 10 o'clock news will be the moderator.

Dr. Bill Caldicott, associate professor of radiology at Harvard Medical School and coordinator of the national speakers' bureau for Freeze Voter 1984 will give the closing remarks.

The public is invited to attend and participate in this afternoon of education and discussion.

Rte. 125 Study Underway

The Merrimack Valley Planning Commission (MVPC) is conducting a traffic study of Route 125 from Sutton Street in North Andover to the Route 125 Connector in the Ward Hill section of Haverhill.

This section is characterized by relatively high traffic volume due mainly to traffic generated by the Western Electric plant. Capacity problems at present are limited to Western Electric shift change periods, but safety problems are significant as there were nearly 300 accidents from 1976-80. With the coming of new developments to the area, such as the Northeast Resource Recovery Facility and the Davis-Furber mill development, traffic will grow substantially and capacity and safety problems will increase.

The purpose of this study is to determine the impacts of this growth on Route 125 and to analyze improvements which will reduce traffic problems. The MVPC is working with the Massachusetts Department of Public Works on the study and recommended improvements will be submitted to the department for review.

The study, which began in January, is expected to be completed in early March.

Concert To Benefit MSPCC

The Merrimack Valley District of MSPCC (Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children) is selling a block of tickets to the New Black Eagle Jazz Band concert at the J. Everett Collins Center in Andover on Saturday evening, April 28. Proceeds will benefit their new preventive program, Project Good Start.

Project Good Start is an outreach, support program for mothers experiencing social isolation, depression or anxiety at the time of childbirth. Referrals are being received from the maternity departments of the Greater Lawrence hospitals. MSPCC hopes to expand its preventive program to the Greater Lowell area.

MSPCC, founded more than 100 years ago, is the only state-wide independent protective service agency in the country. Its focus is on preventing and protecting children from neglect and abuse. MSPCC develops public education programs and is actively involved in child advocacy legislation.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting any member of the board of directors or by calling the Lawrence office at 454 Canal St.

James Triquet, president of the board, is chairing the event, aided by Tina Girdwood of Andover.

A reception for MSPCC ticketholders will be held prior to the concert.

Sunday Presentation Notes

Witchcraft In Andover

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Did you know that during the Salem witchcraft episode of 1692 there were more arrests for witchcraft in Andover than in Salem Village itself?

The dramatic events of the Salem trials will be recounted in a short slide-tape presentation at the Andover Historical Society, Sunday, March 4, at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. There is a small admission fee.

The program tells the story of the Salem drama, how it started, what happened, who was involved, why it ended and how it affected people for years to come. It includes pictures of such 17th-century notables as theologian Cotton Mather and the hapless Rebecca Nurse, hanged in July 1692, whose Danvers home is now open to the public.

Belief in witchery and the occult was almost universal in colonial New England, but the cataclysm of 1692 was unique in intensity and scope. The fire engulfed all of Essex County and reached the highest civil and religious offices of the Bay Colony before it was extinguished.

The slide-tape program is produced by Salem's Essex Institute as part of its exhibit, "Witchcraft: Documents of an Early Colonial Drama." The Andover Historical Society invites the public to view the program, which also serves as an introduction to its annual Memorial Lecture at Phillips Academy on March 15, "Entertaining Satan," by noted scholar John Demos.

Pike School Planning Annual Fair

Unicorns and rockets will depict the theme of the old and the new for The Pike School's annual fair on Saturday, May 12, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Sunset Rock Road, Andover. This year's fair activities will look back on 58 years of Pike nostalgia and tradition.

Workshops are being held for volunteers to prepare hand-crafted items and baked goods for the fair.

Committee members from Andover include Linda Volpe, attic treasures; Linda Carpenter, Barbara DiAdamo, Patty Frothingham, Sally Worthen, country kitchen; Leslie Curtiss, crafts; Diane Grieco, games; Jolana Jaklovsky, international cuisine; Rachel Garcia, children's outgrown clothing; Ronnie Haarmann, Pike booth; Joan Feeley, silent auction; Margaret Murphy and Jane Rosman, plants; Anita McCray, quilt raffle; Gail Blumsack and Pat Wise, refreshments.

Special Classes For Adults

The Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. is offering a series of special craft classes beginning this week.

Quilting, held on Wednesday night, will cover both machine and hand quilting. The students, under instructor JoAnn Flood, will complete one project. They will design, cut, piece and applique. Experienced quilters are also welcome.

Susan Kessler will teach her third stencilling class at the "Y" on Monday night from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Included in this class will be "how to make your own stencils," what paints and brushes to use" and "how to stencil on wood, slate, canvas or fabric."

A Quick Quilt Workshop will be held on Saturday, March 3. Using strip-quilt designs and a sewing machine, the student will complete a quilt in one day.

A mini-quilted vest course on Thursdays from March 8-22 will have the student make a vest and learn how to use the technique of strip quilting to make other items.

For further information, contact Cathy Dawson at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

If you can't face food first thing in the morning, pack a brown bag breakfast. It might include a single serving of ready-to-eat cereal, cartons of juice and milk and a favorite muffin.

Doherty Junior High Happenings

By Steve Mencis and Matt Corbett

February has been very busy at Doherty. A Valentine's Day dance was held for the seventh grade and disc jockey, Dave Casanave, made this a great success along with the seventh grade Student Council members who organized the dance.

"Tag Day" was a popular event with all the students again this year. The Student Council also sponsored a skating party for all grades at Phillips Academy.

Many Doherty parents and students attended a lecture by Howard Shaffer last Thursday on substance abuse, video games and peer pressure. It was sponsored by the school's Parent Advisory Council.

On February 13 and 15, the seventh and eighth graders were involved in the New England Math contest. Students at Doherty test their math skills against those of the outstanding math students throughout New England. Results of this competition are generally not available until late in May. The winners in the eighth grade were Heather Ristuccia, Maya Emshwiller, Bart Kalkstein, Robin Kim, Carolyn Nash and Scott Wallace. The winners from the seventh grade were Steven Wrigley, Beth Fagan, Joe Anuff, Kristen Heller and Jason Tucker. Congratulations to all who participated.

Two very competitive basketball games were played last Friday. The boys played Haverhill and lost by 52-49. The game went into overtime by a long shot from the sideline. The girls' basketball team beat West Junior High by 27-21. The girls' record for the season was 8-4.

In each cable supporting San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, there are 27,572 wires less than two-tenths of an inch in diameter.

Returning To Russia Where Expectations Can 'Be Shot To Pieces'

By Sue Aucella Deacon

It is a country of great beauty inhabited by a cultured people of great warmth — who, to the surprise of one young American, do not envy us our democracy in the least. It is a country where a visitor's expectations can be quickly "shot to pieces."

The Soviet Union is full of surprises, Andover graduate student Kimberly Lilly explains during a recent conversation at her Dascomb Road home. She returned to that country this week, the start of her second trip to the U.S.S.R.

During the next four months, Kimberly hopes to become "as Russian as I can, and to have as much interaction as I can with the Russian people. I want to maintain an open mind — which is sometimes very difficult to do."

She also hopes to teach the Russians she meets as much about her country as possible, relieving them of some of their "pretty warped ideas of Americans. They love our material goods," she says, "but they're afraid of our system."

Kimberly, the 21-year-old daughter of Dr. William D. and JoAnne Lilly, left for the Soviet Union Monday morning to study the Russian language and Russian history and literature at the Pushkin Institute in Moscow.

She graduated from Bates College in December, and has also studied Russian at Middlebury College; she plans to "eventually" earn masters degrees in the language and in area studies.

Kimberly first traveled to the U.S.S.R. in the spring of 1982, as a Bates undergraduate majoring in Russian studies. That six-week trip was fun, but also "frustrating," she remembers, because the students in her college travel study group were treated as tourists, with "everything done for us" — and that meant little contact with the people.

At the Pushkin Institute, Kimberly will live in a dormitory with other foreign students (600 to 700 students attend the Institute, including about 30 Americans). But outside the dorm she will have to "fend for" herself, including buying her own food — not as easy as it sounds.

She'll have afternoons free to seek out new friends among the Soviet citizenry — getting as close as Russian wariness of the K.G.B. will allow.

The student's access to the Russian people may have been limited during her first visit, but her memories are vivid. "A lot of my preconceptions were shot to pieces," she admits.

Example: The people were absolutely wonderful — very generous, very effervescent. I expected to see a bunch of automatons. But she was even more surprised by the control the Soviet government exerts over the lives of its citizens.

I didn't believe that a people could be so oppressed by government — I didn't believe it would be possible," Kimberly recalls. She expected conversations to be guarded on the streets, but not in people's "own little houses." This time around, she notes as a mere matter of fact that her dormitory room will probably be bugged.

Yet many of the Russians she met in Moscow and Leningrad felt far-removed from their government, oblivious to the non-stop propaganda on television and on enormous posters decorating their cities, and unconcerned about their lack of freedom.

"They almost enjoy the fact that everything is done for them," Kimberly explains. "They like order — they're an orderly people." From the pre-Revolution days of czarist rule, peasants and serfs, she says, Russians "have never been a free people."

"I expected them to want a system like ours — and they don't. That was very surprising. They don't want freedom of speech — it's too messy for them, too unordered."

Russians know there is unemployment in the United States (almost unheard of in the Soviet Union), but they do not know about our social welfare system of unemployment compensation, Social Security, pensions: "I want them to know that our system isn't as unstable as they think," Kimberly says.

In Moscow, "gray and dismal in the winter" but "a hustle-bustle type of place, a lot like New York," Russians "don't have an easy life." They stand in long lines in food stores ("the milk store for milk, the meat store for meat — there's no A & P") for hours every day, and cope with shortages that leave them little to eat but bread.

And they are careful not to become too friendly with foreign visitors, because the KGB "could make life rough for them."

But away from Moscow, in the varied republics that make up the Soviet Union — Armenia, Georgia, Latvia, Lithuania, the Ukraine — people are "more relaxed," the student says, "more free of thought." These Soviets fight to maintain their own language, their own culture.

Kimberly and a group of students visiting a country tavern were "horrified" to hear a man offer a loud toast to "those pigs in Moscow," she remembers. (But even after that bold gesture, the man looked around the room to see who might have heard, she adds.)

Despite the deprivations of Soviet life, Russians defy pity, Kimberly emphasizes. Part of the country's beauty is "just sitting around the table while a Russian woman gathers all her treasures for you — maybe a little bit of chocolate. There are a lot of good things in their life, and they're proud of what is good in their system. They don't want you to say, 'Oh, the poor Russians.'"

She remembers Russians as "very cultured people" who love the symphony, ballet, opera, art museums, who are proud of their architecture and literature. They are "voracious readers" who are seen reading everywhere ("in the subway, on elevators").

And they are a people who "adore children. Children are just so loved — a child is everyone's business. You'll see a child alone on the subway, and seven strange women will be telling him to button up his coat. It's really refreshing to see."

Kimberly will concentrate on becoming fluent in the language while she's in the U.S.S.R., but she has another goal as well: to explore "the potential for Soviet women for feminist thought."

That was the title of an honors thesis she completed at Bates, and hopes to someday expand into a book. This trip will give her a chance to talk with Russian women and find out whether her conclusions were "on-target or off-target."

The potential for Russian feminism "goes back to the fact that Russian life is very hard," Kimberly believes — especially for a woman. "The state wants her to have a lot of children (to increase the Russian population, now a minority within the Soviet Union), but she is also expected to work — if she doesn't, she's considered a parasite."

A working mother in Russia can't count on finding good child care, because "there's not enough to go around." She has "few modern conveniences — there are no dishwashers", and she cannot depend on her husband for the slightest help around the house. "Husbands do nothing," Kimberly says. "They're called 'knights of the sofa', because when they get home from work, all they do is sit down and relax."

Russian women are thus left with "no time for creative efforts, or to develop any talents they might have. And the state isn't doing anything to help them. They have to start thinking for themselves," the student says.

But is there hope for feminism in a country where all free thinking is repressed? Perhaps, Kimberly replies. "Because women are the childbearers, they do have some pull, in subtle ways." She believes Russian women "feel trapped," and are curious about American feminism. "I want to hear what they think about their own lives. I'm eager to draw some conclusions."

Once she completes her education, Kimberly hopes to end up in Washington, D.C., as a governmental advisor. "The people forming our Soviet policy today know little about the Soviet Union," she says. "I'd like to know enough about the country, the people, the language to make a difference."

Healthy Back Program Set For YMCA

The Andover-North Andover YMCA will offer the Y's Way to a Healthy Back program starting Monday, March 5. The program, designed primarily to relieve back pain, increase flexibility and ease tension, was designed by Dr. Hans Kraus, a world-famous back specialist, and approved by the medical advisory committee of the Y.M.C.A. of Greater New York.

The special exercise program which utilizes the Kraus-Weber test to determine minimal muscular strength and flexibility is composed of a series of movements that begins with relaxation, flexibility, mild muscular strengthening and returning to muscle relaxation techniques.

"More than 80 percent of the participants previously enrolled in our program found relief or complete elimination of back pain," according to Heidi Wolfman, certified instructor of the program.

"If you are among the many who complain of back pain and your condition is not caused by organic disease, but by muscles that are weak or tense or both, then the Y.M.C.A. program may be of significant help to you," states Wolfman.

The six week program will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. through April 11. Registrations are being accepted at the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For further information on the Y's Way to a Health Back program, call the Andover-North Andover YMCA.

Assessment • Support • Knowledge

This is the fourth in a series of monthly articles from the Community ASK Team. The purpose of these articles is to inform the community about programs and opportunities within the community concerning alcohol and drug use.

The Community ASK Team has completed a resource booklet. It was developed to provide resources for all people within the community so that each might make better informed choices about alcohol and drug use. It contains a section on resources which suggests agencies that might be of help to individuals when dealing with a concern about drug or alcohol use. The booklet will be available throughout the community within the next month.

The following is a letter which will be distributed to each parent in March telling about each school ASK team and what each individual team is doing.

Dear Parent:

Substance abuse is the third largest health problem in the United States. Statistics indicate that 25 percent of families need help dealing with problems of chemical dependence. School settings offer a wealth of opportunities for dealing with behaviors, knowledge and attitudes toward drug use and abuse. Important changes can be achieved by structuring an appropriate environment and by developing relevant health promotion drug abuse prevention strategies.

In Andover teams of administrators, teachers, counselors and nurses have been trained from each school to implement an assistance program for students, staff and families. These teams have been designated the ASK Teams for their responsibilities to provide Assessment, Support and Knowledge.

The focus of these teams will vary with each school based on identified needs, although the general goals are common to all. While the secondary schools' focus is now primarily intervention, the elementary schools focus more on prevention.

The school is but one portion of the total network of individuals who share the responsibility of implementing prevention intervention programs. A Community Committee on Substance Use and Abuse has compiled a valuable, comprehensive resource directory. This directory includes a listing of support services, public law, school policies, drug information and related topics. These booklets will be available through Memorial Hall Library, the Department of Community Services, Town Hall and your school.

Each school ASK Team has a parent liaison from the Community Committee on Substance Use and Abuse. The — school ASK Team.

The Sanborn ASK Team is working on substance abuse prevention with the theme of "Let's help good kids stay good!" The goal is to instill the habit of confident decision-making and the recognition of positive, sound choices in every day lives. This will be encouraged through a positive self-image and sense of self-confidence.

March 12, Sanborn staff meeting at 3:30 p.m. Peer Proofing Strategies—Stephanie Meegan.

April 26, PTO program at 7 p.m. Dr. Donald McClean, Substance Abuse." Fifth and sixth grade students and parents.

The teachers at West Elementary are learning about violence in our children's lives. The members of the ASK team are busy arranging for speakers and programs to help the entire staff become more aware of a serious problem in the 80s.

The Bancroft ASK Team is focusing on good decision-making skills for the students. As an aid to the parents, a program will be presented Tuesday, March 13, at 7:30 p.m. by Stephanie Meegan. This program is one of her Impact on Youth Lecture Series titled "Success: Helping My Child Attain It." It will help parents identify their parenting goals and identify the steps necessary to reach those goals.

The ASK team at South School is meeting on a regular monthly basis, working on a prevention curriculum based on decision making and developing a positive self-image.

The ASK Team at Doherty Junior High has been meeting regularly to implement the referral system in their building. It is important that all teachers understand the process of referral and its value; the ASK team has been working toward that end. The referrals that have been received to date are being assigned to a member of the team who will develop the assessment and follow through on the recommended procedures.

The ASK team at West Junior High is made up of concerned staff members who meet on a weekly basis. They attempt to locate students who may be in need of help and to direct them to the proper channels for the help they need. Our projects for the year include an inservice course offered to the secondary faculty, an educational project on chemical abuse and related subjects for the building faculty and a presentation to the student body on chemical abuse and decision making.

March 1, "The Adolescent: An Upbeat Look," from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Dr. Howard Schaffer, Michael Finkle in West Junior High's media center.

Each school ASK team has a parent liaison from the Community Committee on Substance Use and Abuse. The Andover High School ASK team consists of 10 staff members who meet weekly as a means of intervention and prevention. In addition to these meetings, special projects are planned. The week of April 2 will be designated Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week. Some of the activities will include a movie, a panel discussion by teenage alcoholics, followed by organized discussions throughout the day.

Adolescent Room Opened At Hospital

Being an adolescent isn't always easy. It is a time of transition when a young person is part adult but still part child.

Recognizing that its adolescent patients have very special social and emotional needs, Lawrence General Hospital (LGH) has newly renovated a room on its pediatric unit specially for adolescent inpatients.

The room, which has more "adult" decor than the other rooms on the floor, has its own bathroom and provides LGH adolescent patients with privacy which is particularly important for young persons between ages 13 and 18.

"Being hospitalized can, at any age, cause persons to feel they have lost control of their lives. If an adolescent when hospitalized is placed in the middle of a pediatric unit, surrounded by young children and lots of toys, it can be devastating to their self-image and can compound their feelings of not being in control," explained Kathy Kinneen, L.C.S.W., assistant director of medical social services at LGH.

However, it still is not appropriate to put an adolescent patient on an adult floor where the presence of more seriously ill adults can also make an adolescent feel uncomfortable and out of place, pointed out Joanne Borland, M.D., chief of pediatrics.

Despite the need to be treated as adult, the adolescent patient may still wish to be cared for and comforted like a younger child when they are sick, according to Patricia Ladd, R.N., LGH pediatric head nurse.

The LGH adolescent room provides a solution to this by placing the teenaged patient on a pediatric unit staffed by nurses specially trained and experienced in responding to the physical and emotional needs of young patients while recognizing their desire to be treated like an adult.

The first English dukedom was created when King Edward III gave his son, the Black Prince, the title of Duke of Cornwall—a title retained today by Prince Charles.

English Landscapes On Agenda

This month's program for the Andover Garden Club, entitled "English Landscapes and Garden Arts," will be presented Tuesday, March 6, at the November Club.

Nature, nostalgia and classical French landscape painting were the sources of many English gardens of the 18th century. This slide show and lecture will investigate the relationship between English, French painting and prints to the professional landscape architect and his patrons in England. Among the English gardens to be introduced and seen will be Stourhead, Wiltshire, Sissinghurst, Kent and Rousham and Oxfordshire.

Miriam Butts, a Lexington resident and lecturer at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, will present the program. Butts has a special enthusiasm for American and English drawing and architecture. She has co-authored two Jackdaws for Viking Press on the American China Trade and the early industrialization of New England. With five friends she shared in the operation of the Gallery on the Green in Lexington. Now four years old, the Gallery specializes in English and American 19th century paintings.

Butts will be introduced to Andover Garden club members and guests by Chairman Alice Murray. The tea table arrangement will be done by Mrs. Anthony J. Sakowich. Mrs. Irving E. Rogers, Jr. and Mrs. James Gilmore will be tea hostesses.

Mrs. John B. Boshar will deliver a mini-talk, "Shrubs in the Spring."

Church Supper

A Ham and Bean Supper will be held Saturday, March 10, the First United Methodist Church, Lowell and Pelham Streets, Methuen, from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Malaguti-Donovan

Paula Sue Donovan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Donovan of 20 Flint Circle, Andover, was married to Peter Michael Malaguti, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Malaguti of 212 School St., Belmont, Feb. 18 at St. Joseph's Church in Andover.

The Rev. James Vitali, O.S.A., of St. Augustine's parish, Andover, officiated at the eleven o'clock ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of satin brocade featuring a scoop neckline, bouffant sleeves, dropped waistline and cathedral train. Her headpiece was a cluster of pearls with a full-length veil of silk illusion. She carried long-stemmed calla lilies with dumbcane foliage.

Matron of honor was Sharon Lambert of Charlottesville, Va., the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Christine Donovan of Andover and Jane Beth Donovan of West Palm Beach, Fla., the bride's sisters; Mary Lanctot of Chicago, Ill., the groom's sister; and Nancy Nowak of Patchogue, N.Y.

They wore dresses of emerald green satin with a sabrina neckline, tulip puffed sleeves, and matching ties at the waist. They carried white muffs decorated with rubrum lilies and ballerina pink roses.

Frank Iacono of East Greenwich, R.I. was the groom's best man. Ushers were Jeff Lanctot of Chicago, Timothy Madden of Clifton Park, N.Y., Richard Eisner of Lynn, and David Nowak of Patchogue, N.Y.

Susan Lasman was the guest book attendant.

Anita McDuffie was in charge of musical arrangements.

The bride's mother wore a dress of royal blue georgette with a tier effect hemline. Her flowers were white roses and freesia.

The groom's mother chose a beige silk dress, and wore a corsage of off-white sweetheart roses, baby's breath and miniature carnations.

The church altar was decorated with pedestal arrangements of white snapdragons, calla lilies, and lemon leaves. The pews were marked with white ribbon bows.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Andover Inn, where glass bowls filled with colorful spring flowers adorned each table.

The bride is a graduate of Andover High School and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. She earned a master's degree at Lesley College, and is employed as an art teacher at St. Augustine's School, Andover.

Her husband is a graduate of Belmont High School, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, and Suffolk Law School. He is an attorney with the firm of Lawson and Wayne, Boston.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will live in Stoneham.

Sunday Evensongs Continue

The Schola Cantorum, under the direction of Earl L. Miller, will sing the second in a series of three winter Evensong services at the Parish of Christ Church, Central Street, Andover, Sunday, March 4, at 4 p.m. The Rev. James A. Diamond will officiate.

This month's service will feature the music of Orlando Gibbons, considered one of the principal composers of the Tudor period in English church music. Born in 1583, he was extremely prolific in his music composition for only living 42 years. He wrote numerous works for church and secular uses, both for voices and instruments.

Coming from an actively musical family, Gibbons received his Doctor of Music degree from Oxford and was organist at Westminster Abbey.

The Episcopal Evensong Service dates back more than 400 years and is recognized for its musical beauty. The majority of the service is sung and the texts for the various pieces are fitting for the end of the day.

The service, open to the public, lasts about 45 minutes.

Andover Folksinger In Concert

Folksinger Ed Parker of Andover will give a Coffee House Concert Friday, March 9, in Fellowship Hall, South Church, Andover, at 8 p.m.

The hall will be transformed into a coffee house setting for the evening. There will be no admission charge, but a free will offering will be taken to benefit the church's Organ Restoration Fund. Refreshments will be available.

Parker has been singing folk songs for more than 20 years, as a soloist and with the folk group "The Carpetbaggers," which he started while a student at Andover High. He has sung in coffee houses throughout New England and has presented folk programs at colleges and high schools.

A graduate of the Massachusetts College of Art with a bachelor of fine arts degree and the Rochester Institute of Technology with a master of fine arts, Parker was an art director for several advertising agencies in Boston and for Boston Magazine before opening his own illustration studio on Newbury Street 12 years ago.

Central Celebrates Valentine Liturgy

Central Catholic High School community observed St. Valentine's Day in a special way with a Parent-Son celebration.

A potluck banquet followed a Mass involving the student body, members of the Woman's Guild and the director of the school's Campus Ministry.

The evening began with a Mass concelebrated in the Rogers Theater by the Rev. Cliff Moors, S.M. and the Rev. Gerald Murphy, B.S.O., faculty members. Sophomore Steve Beland assisted with the first liturgical reading and Mrs. Alice Sheedy of Andover, president of the Woman's Guild, recited the Prayers of the Faithful after the homily. Senior John Sheedy of Andover, a Youth Minister, aided in the distribution of communion.

Following the service, the mothers, guardians and sons enjoyed homemade food in Memorial Auditorium.

Br. Frank Kelly, F.M.S., and Fr. Moors, coordinators of the Campus Ministry, were encouraged by the volunteer turnout of well over 200 participants.

Br. Frank explained that the idea originated in a desire to "offer the families of Central an opportunity to gather together in both a liturgical and social context in order to deepen faith in God and in each other." After explaining the program concept to the officers of the Mother's Guild, the women turned the idea into a practical reality. February was chosen for the ceremony and supper. As Br. Frank noted, "Valentine's seemed like a fitting time to celebrate God's love for us, a love which can strengthen our love for one another."

The evening's success prompted Br. John Malachy, F.M.S., the guild's moderator, to remark, "We are encouraged by both the number of participants and, more importantly, the warmth that the celebration generated. This is only a beginning and next year we are confident the affair will embrace even more members of the Central Catholic community."

Memorial Hall Library

In the business section and on special display at Memorial Hall Library are copies of the U.S. Master Tax Guide, H&R Block's Income Tax Workbook, J.K. Lasser's Your Income Tax, Moody's Dividend Record, many annual reports, including all companies listed on the New York and American Stock Exchanges on microfiche and elected federal tax forms. The library also has a complete set of federal and state forms which may be photocopied.

I.R.S. has provided the library with Tax Tapes, a cassette with step-by-step instructions to complete federal forms 1040EZ, 1040A, 1040 and Schedules A & B. The cassette is available for borrowing by contacting the reference librarian.

A bookmark has been prepared by the staff for patrons which provides information on where federal and state income tax assistance is available. For all your tax informational needs, think first of the library "Little Foxes."

The movie version of Lillian Hellman's brilliant play, "The Little Foxes," will be shown at Memorial Hall Library on Friday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. as the next offering in the Friday Film Series of plays made into films. Starring Bette Davis, Herbert Marshall, Teresa Wright and Dan Duryea, the film portrays a family of schemers in post civil-war days who will stop at nothing to outwit each other. All showings are free and open to the public. Children under 12 will not be admitted unless accompanied by an adult.

Wildlife

The nature and wildlife photography of Bruce Richardson of Topsfield is on display at Memorial Hall Library during March. Although he has had no formal photographic education, Richardson has been specializing in wildlife color photography for the past 10 years and has had his work published by Bay Books, Ltd. of Australia and "Alaska Magazine."

National Wildlife Week starts March 18 with the theme, "Water—We Can't Live Without It." Memorial Hall Library is observing National Wildlife Week with a book display and handouts from the National Wildlife Federation.

Story Hours

Registration for the Spring "Littlest Listeners" is under way at Memorial Hall Library and will continue through March 9. These story hours for preschoolers will be presented each Tuesday and Wednesday at 10 a.m. and Thursday at 1:30 p.m. for ten weeks starting March 13. Children should be between 3½ and 5 years old and parents must register them in person. For youngsters who are unable to attend day-time story hours, the Children's Room also offers bedtime stories at "Pajama Party" every Thursday at 7 p.m. starting March 15. No registration is necessary for this program.

New For Problem Readers

The Children's Room is circulating a number of special paperbacks accompanied by cassettes, for children who may have trouble "getting into" books. Although the books are complete, the cassettes present the story only up to an exciting part so that the listener will want to continue on and enjoy the whole book by himself. Among the popular titles are "The Enormous Egg" by Oliver Butterworth and "My Trip to Alpha 1" by Alfred Slatre.

In old Japan it was believed that eating ginseng root would help ensure long life.

Round seven of the Commodity Foods Distribution Program is now complete. In spite of a stormy start, more than 800 Andover residents took part in the program. A date has not yet been announced for Round 8. Be sure to watch this column for the next commodity foods distribution. Pre-registration is necessary.

Tickets are on sale for the March 17 St. Patrick's Day Party at the Andover Senior Center. The evening will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a traditional corned beef and cabbage dinner at 6 p.m. An Irish sing-a-long and ballroom and line dancing, under the direction of Dick Delery, round out the fare for this "wee bit of Erin" celebration.

Registration is under way for spring classes at the Senior Center. Included in this round of classes are Oil Painting with Kathy Plaza, Basic Drawing with Anna Horgan, Easy Exercise with Jane Morrissey, R.N., Agine a New Look with Tom Ross and more. Be sure to read the Andover Elder Affairs Newsletter for complete details.

Spring is just around the corner and what better way is there to welcome it than a visit to the annual Massachusetts Horticultural Society's Flower Show. Join us on Tuesday, March 13, for a trip to the Flower Show with luncheon at the Harborlights Restaurant.

An April Day Out is planned at the Sheraton Mansfield featuring Sally and Clay Hart of the Lawrence Welk Show and comedian Russ Fisher. Luncheon and deluxe coach transportation are included in the ticket price for the April 3 trip.

Copley Place is the destination for an afternoon of Easter shopping at Nieman-Marcus, Gucci and more. Luncheon is on your own in one of Copley Place's fine new restaurants for the Thursday, April 12, excursion.

Be sure to mark your calendar for other fine trips which include a music theatre trip to "Gypsy" on Sunday, April 29, Boston's Shubert Theatre for "42nd Street" on Wednesday, May 30, and a Tall Ships trip in early June.

Don't miss any of these trips. Be sure to purchase your tickets early at the Senior Center. Call 470-3830 for information on these trips or Senior Center activities.

New Ordinance Would Regulate Adult Entertainment Locations

Two zoning articles designed to restrict the location of adult entertainment establishments in Andover — styled after Stoughton's adult entertainment ordinances — will appear on the annual town meeting warrant next month.

The selectmen re-opened the town warrant Monday night to insert two adult entertainment articles. The Planning Board will hold a public hearing on the articles at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 27, at the town offices.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said Wednesday that no adult entertainment establishments have shown an interest in opening their doors in Andover. However, "We have had some concern about these things in the past," the manager said, adding that "now is the time" to get regulations on Andover's books.

He added that three businesses have filed applications with the building inspector for certificates of occupancy, seeking to sell video tapes in town.

The selling of video tapes is fine, Mahony said — as long as they are not "X-rated," and that is one thing the proposed zoning law would prohibit. Selling video tapes could be "a foot in the door" for adult entertainment entrepreneurs, he noted.

Selectmen unanimously approved the two 'Stoughton articles' Monday night (with Selectman Charles Wesson absent) with no discussion.

The first article defines five types of adult entertainment establishments: adult bookstores (including stores that sell films and video cassettes as well as books and periodicals), adult motion picture theatres seating more than 50, adult "mini" motion picture theatres seating less than 50, adult live entertainment establishments, and massage service establishments.

Those definitions refer to Massachusetts

General Law Chapter 272, Section 31.

The second article would prohibit such enterprises in every zone except the general business zone (which consists largely of the downtown business district), and then only with a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

An unrelated zoning article has been withdrawn from the warrant, Mahony told the selectmen Monday night. That private article would have requested the rezoning of a 1.5-acre site located off Route 133 near the Tewksbury line from residential to industrial zoning.

Neighbors, Church Oppose Elm Street Liquor License

By Sue Aucella Deacon

It may one day offer gourmet cuisine in an "English country" atmosphere, but The Duck of Andover will not begin serving diners without a fight from its would-be neighbors on Elm Street, including the Free Christian Church.

A Winchester couple who hope to open a restaurant in what is now Lundgren's Funeral Home at 18 Elm St. (as well as 24 and 26 Elm St.) met with opposition from church members and other neighbors this week, when they asked the Board of Selectmen for a license to serve alcoholic beverages in the proposed restaurant.

The board tabled the discussion until next week, pending the resolution of a legal question that was raised during a public hearing at the town office building Monday night.

A roomful of neighbors cited potential parking and traffic problems — as well as loss of the "peaceful" atmosphere in the church neighborhood — as reasons they objected to the restaurant.

But Selectmen Chairman Gerald Silverman, the only board member to comment on the proposal Monday, called the proposed restaurant "a great use of the property" and a "very positive" opportunity for the town.

Frans R.D. Teding von Berkhout and his wife, Mita, hope to buy the Lundgren property later this year, when Donald Lundgren plans to retire and close his funeral home. The Berkhouts, who have signed a purchase and sale agreement with Lundgren, have operated a French restaurant called LeBellecour in Lexington for more than five years.

Berkhout told the selectmen the Andover restaurant would consist of a lounge and four dining rooms on the first floor, and three dining rooms on the second floor. It would feature French and American cuisine, including seafood, meats and game "in season" — especially duck — with lunch prices ranging from $4.50 to $6.50 and dinner prices, from $9.50 to $16.50. He said the restaurant would have a total staff of 20 to 25 people, and would be managed by one of the Berkhouts.

The Duck of Andover would feature a duck motif in its "contemporary English country" decor, the restaurateur said. The restaurant would be open for lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday, for dinner from 5:30 to 10 p.m. Monday through Sunday, and possibly for a Sunday brunch. The lounge would be open during lunch hours, and from 5 to 11:30 p.m. Monday through Sunday.

The restaurant would seat 130, and provide on-site parking for 35 cars, Berkhout indicated. Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said that according to the building inspector's calculations, the property would have parking for 40 cars — allowing seating for no more than 112 diners.

Berkhout said he was scheduled to meet with town zoning officials Tuesday morning to discuss parking for the restaurant. The manager noted that zoning articles scheduled to come before town meeting next month could effect the restaurant proposal by eliminating parking credits for businesses located near town parking lots.

Andover Atty. Reginald Marden, representing the Free Church, told the selectmen the applicant must prove his restaurant would not be "detrimental" to the church. He said the church holds services every Sunday until noon, as well as every Wednesday evening, and also runs a nursery school every weekday morning.

In addition, the church is used "almost every evening of the year" for activities ranging from Cub Scout meetings to choir rehearsals, the lawyer said.

Marden said church members opposed the alcoholic beverage license because a restaurant would add traffic to an "already crowded area" and use "limited parking spaces." The restaurant would be busiest during the same hours that the church is used, he said.

The Rev. Jack Daniel of the church added that The Duck would also intrude upon a "sense of sanctuary" in the church neighborhood by creating noise. "Right now it's a very peaceful, very tranquil setting," he said.

Timothy McDonald of Elm Court, representing a group of 18 neighbors, presented the board with a petition opposing the restaurant; he said the neighbors also objected to the traffic and parking problems a restaurant might create.

And Ralph Arabian of Elm Street, a trustee of the Free Church, said Backstreet restaurant has created a parking "mess" on Essex Street and Justin's restaurant has created "the same mess" on Park Street. "We don't want the same thing in the middle of our town," he said.

But Donald Lundgren told the board he could not imagine any business being more disruptive than his funeral home, which operates 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. seven days a week.

Lundgren said he did not believe the restaurant would create any more noise and confusion or traffic and parking complications than the existing business. "I don't see where the problems would be enlarged in any way."

And William Gurry of Elm Street said he favored the license, explaining that "the number of people will not increase or decrease by adding a restaurant. Parking is not an issue."

The board agreed to table the discussion until next week after Marden said the Berkhouts must obtain a common victualler's (food) license before the liquor license. Berkhout maintained he needed the liquor license first.

Silverman said the board would seek a legal opinion, and would also be interested in further information about how much parking the restaurant would provide.

Selectman William Dalton disqualified himself from the licensing discussion to avoid the appearance of conflict of interest, after Berkhout said architect Mark Sullivan has worked on plans for the restaurant.

It's Now Town Offices

What to call the new town and school offices on Bartlet Street? Not the "municipal offices," as town officials have been calling their new quarters — "too citified," Selectman Norma Gammon pronounced this week. Board members agreed that "town offices" would better suit Andover.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony Monday night told the board a sign identifying the former East Junior High wings as "Andover Town Offices" would be erected this week to help townspeople and visitors find the offices.

That sign, an old one being recycled, will replace a none-too-elegant hand-lettered cardboard sign that has been hanging over the main entrance to the town offices.

A permanent sign will be posted on the front lawn as soon as the grounds are landscaped this spring, Mahony said yesterday. But as far as he's concerned, no special name will be given the two wings, the manager said, since he's seen "no interest from the selectmen" in christening the new offices.

As for the original Town Hall back on Main Street, the board approved a request from the Andover Garden Club to sell seedling plants in front of that building some time in late April or early May.

Cheerleading Clinic

The sounds of "Go-Team-Go!" and "We Want A Victory!" echoed throughout the Doherty Junior High School gym and provided evidence that the D.C.S. five week Cheerleading Clinic had begun. Under the supervision of the co-ordinator of the clinic, Pinkie Grams, cheerleading coach at Andover High School and the instructor, Stephanie Patten, a high school junior and varsity cheerleader, 20 girls began to put their arms, legs and vocal cords into shape. The clinic which started Feb. 27, is offered for boys and girls on Monday and Wednesday at the Doherty from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. The five-week course is designed for the beginner as well as the experienced cheerleader in grades 3-12. Participants will be placed into separate age skill levels. Registration is at the DCS office. ## More Polling Places

Selectmen last week looked briefly at the matter of providing more than one polling place for the town, particularly for the Presidential election in November.

The board and the town manager, in discussions with Town Clerk Elden R. Salter, recognized the fact that the November election will more than likely command considerable attention and create problems at the single polling location at Andover High School.

Andover has been on the single polling place plan now for some time.

It was promulgated by two factors: the need to create additional precincts due to growth of the community and the requirement to provide access to the polls for the handicapped.

Prior to the redistricting and the decision to go to the single location, there were six precincts each with its own voting location.

Since the inception of the new plan there have been problems, particularly during state and national elections. Traffic flow and parking are the two major difficulties at peak voting periods.

Cognizant of this, the time seems appropriate to begin planning for the November election now and instituting at least one other polling place.

Town Manager Kenneth R. Mahony indicates that there is sufficient room in the lower floor of the new town office building on Bartlet Street to set up another polling place. This would at least provide some ease to the situation, providing a location for voters in the east and west sections of the community, rather than all heading to the one polling place.

Presidential elections have always commanded good voter turnout in Andover.

This year should be no exception, particularly in view of other contests on the ballot, such as the race for U.S. Senator and Congressman from this, the Fifth District.

The town election, coming up shortly, should be little problem to the single polling location. With the lack of contests, the annual exercise is expected to attract a very low voter turnout.

But the primary and the final election in November should be planned for now and proper moves made to expand Andover's voting places.

Obviously there is room in municipal buildings to accommodate the voters.

Democracy being based on the opportunity to participate in government should be encouraged through convenience of participation in the electoral process, rather than discouraged by the inability to visit the polls without traffic and parking problems.

Hopefully there will be a positive response to the need for additional voting locations for the fall.

Report To Andover

By Rep. Sue Tucker

Last year, REAP I; this year, REAP II. Citizens are asking what these REAP proposals are all about. Are they really disguised tax increases? Who is paying?

There are two basic aspects to both REAP packages. The first is based on better management of state revenue and the second is based on increases in various state fees, charges and fines. Both F.Y. '84 and F.Y. '85 state budgets depend on REAP to balance expenditures and revenue. (Fortunately, your state government, unlike the Federal government, cannot operate on deficits and must balance each year's budget).

Most analysts cannot quarrel with those sections of REAP which provide for better revenue management. Stricter tax compliance and enforcement, computer match to reduce welfare fraud and new proceedings to collect child support payments from absentee fathers will result in millions of dollars for state services and local aid.

These proposals are designed to answer the recurring question, "Why can't government be run more like a business?" To many citizens, Proposition 2½ was a mandate to manage government resources by reducing waste, fraud and duplication. REAP speaks to this mandate in a hundred ways, from enforcing laws relative to tax payments to requiring health insurers to help the Department of Welfare identify people who are both policy holders and recipients of state medical assistance. (Medicaid costs have surpassed the two-billion mark in Massachusetts).

However, those sections of REAP which raise fees are subject to controversy. There is no question that Massachusetts under-utilized user fees prior to Prop. 2½ in comparison to other states. Before Prop 2½, we provided free services where other states charged. We finance capital expenditures from general obligation bonds where other states use revenue bonds financed by user fees.

The issue today is how fast and how far should local and state government go with increasing fees and fines to meet expenditures. In 1980 six common fees (marriage license, dog license, construction permit, sign permit, overnight parking ticket and two late library books) cost a Brookline resident a total of $12.10. Today the same total is $204.20, a 1700 percent increase.

The state, as well as local government, is looking toward this revenue source in several ways. For example, a fee is proposed for hundreds of state employees who presently park without charge. Thus, the cost of maintaining these parking facilities would not come from tax dollars. Hundreds of licenses and permits are issued by the state each week, some at a fee far below cost. Governor Dukakis has proposed automatic biennial increases of such fees based on an index of cost of government services.

To understand the magnitude of this new "fee mentality," we must look beyond REAP. For example, there is sometimes a fine line between a tax increase and user-fee increase. Last year we raised the cigarette tax with relative political ease because it was widely perceived as a "user fee" for smokers rather than a tax increase. Furthermore, two major new proposals—Mass Bank and a separate MDC Sewer and Water Authority—will depend heavily on user fees for financing.

While I agree with most aspects of REAP, I feel

The Public Forum

A Matter Of Traffic

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

According to the prominent front page article in the TOWNSMAN (2/23/84) several articles in the Town Meeting warrant will ask for zoning changes

1. To change two areas from Single Family Residential zones to apartment zones, for condominiums
2. To change a Single Residence A zone to a general business zone
3. To change two areas from Single Residence C zones to Industrial A zones.
4. To exempt building owners from adding new parking spaces when they alter or expand buildings, provided they would not need more than six spaces to serve the new area.
5. To allow pre-1941 single family houses in Single Residence C zones to be converted into multiple-family dwellings, with a special permit from the Zoning Board
6. To define a "customary home occupation," distinguish between home day care of less than six children from that of more than six, and change some restrictions on the use of dwellings for home occupations (e.g., not more than two non-resident vehicles on the property at a time; others, presumably, on the street)
7. To allow banks to do business in any industrial zone

Each one of these articles, amounting to about ten separate votes, means increased traffic. The Town recently spent about a year developing a Master Plan to review present conditions, to consider the quality of life the citizens want to have 20 years from now and to make recommendations for the short-term and long-term future. It was an excellent idea and involved many citizens.

Transportation and traffic were among the issues discussed. There are major problems: present traffic overloads roads that are narrow, winding, hilly and dangerous; they were never built to handle much more than local residential vehicles. There is no long-range plan for attacking traffic problems and danger areas, especially for such roads. A committee meets periodically to decide which ones are the most pressing and recommends a changing list of priorities. There is no long-range capital expenditure program for rebuilding and/or maintaining roads that the state considers strictly the Town's responsibility.

The Master Plan report has been before the various town boards and other officials for a few months. I may have missed it, but I have not seen in the TOWNSMAN a verbatim record of that report's recommendations. I am sure that it is being studied very closely and it may be too soon to expect a published report of official decisions made in response to the many recommendations of the Master Plan report. I do know that some recommendations dealt with transportation and traffic.

Town boards and other officials will probably offer opinions at Town Meeting about each of the articles I have listed above. All these articles ask for zoning changes that will increase our population or industry—and traffic. Undoubtedly, town officials are in the process of determining their positions on each article.

Different as these articles may seem, however, they are all related to the problems exposed and recommendations made in the Master Plan report. Surely, officials are aware of this relationship. I suggest that before they decide on their positions for or against these articles, they first decide—and publish—their responses to the Master Plan report. If they are not ready to do so by Town Meeting, then I suggest that nearly all these zoning articles be postponed until town officials have taken action on the Master Plan recommendations.

I have formed no strong opinion about the value of these individual articles and am not arguing for or against them. I am, however, interested in an orderly procedure to carry forward the valuable work of the Master Plan, to give it priority over piecemeal decisions. The Master Plan project was an enlightened idea (and enlightening for those who participated); it should be followed up.

JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Republicans fear Volcker more than Mondale in '84

By Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's political strategists are convinced that Walter Mondale will be the Democratic standard-bearer this November and are already mapping plans to beat him. But privately, the president's advisers are more worried about a man who won't be on anybody's ticket.

He is Paul Volcker, the 6-foot-7-inch chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Republicans are afraid that Volcker's stubborn refusal to loosen up on the nation's money supply will bring a sharp rise in interest rates over the next few months.

This would be bad news for American consumers, especially those who want to buy homes or other big-ticket items. It would also be tough on business. Without money to borrow at affordable rates, consumers and businessmen will stop buying, and the economic recovery will come to a shuddering halt.

When the economy goes sour, of course, the voters take it out on the party in power. In both 1976 and 1980, interest rates went up sharply. And on both occasions, the party in power lost the White House.

So the president's political advisers want Volcker to loosen up on the money supply. That would hold interest rates down and keep the recovery going. And it wouldn't lead to runaway inflation — at least not until after Election Day.

We've seen an internal memo that has been circulating in the White House on this very subject. It predicts that the Federal Reserve Board will start pumping up the money supply at the first sign of a new recession this year.

But the memo offers this blunt warning: "The Fed may wait too long before acting to help us politically. Even if it were to reverse policy immediately, we will still see a significant slowing of economic growth in the second and third quarters of the year."

That is why Reagan's re-election strategists are worried about Paul Volcker, the man who is not running for anything. If the economy shows signs of going into a tailspin this summer, the Democrats will get back an issue the Republicans thought they had sewed up.

BELEAGUED BOAT PEOPLE: Since the fall of Vietnam to the communists a decade ago, desperate refugees have risked their lives trying to reach freedom by boat across the Gulf of Siam. They have become known as the "boat people," and the worst danger they face is from pirates who overtake their frail vessels and murder, rape and rob them.

At first, the United States did nothing to protect the refugees. But in recent years, it has given millions of dollars to the government of Thailand to battle the merciless pirates.

Now we have evidence that some Thai authorities have been as merciless as the pirates. On several recent occasions, boatloads of helpless refugees have reached what they thought was safety in Thailand, but the Thai authorities have heartlessly ordered them towed back out to sea and cast adrift.

Thai officials deny the charges, but we have cables from the U.S. Embassy in Bangkok which give the incriminating details. Just last December, for example, a boatload of 29 refugees landed in Thailand. After two days' detention, they were towed out to sea by a Royal Thai navy patrol boat.

The motor on the refugees' boat conked out, and they drifted helplessly for 14 days. Twice they were attacked by pirates, who abducted six women. Two small children died of exposure and dehydration.

Another tragedy involved a boatload of 72 Vietnamese refugees. They fled their homeland on New Year's day and reached Thailand three days later. Thirty-three of them were put aboard a small boat and towed out to sea. All made it safely to Malaysia.

But the remaining 39 refugees were not so lucky. They were also towed out to sea, but their boat capsized and 23 drowned. The 16 who managed to swim ashore were rounded up by police, loaded onto another small boat, and towed back to sea.

WOMEN'S WIRE: The political pundits will be talking about the "gender gap" this year. That's the difference between the percentage of women who support Ronald Reagan and the percentage of men who do. But the president's private pollster is not worried. His surveys show that if the elections were held today, Reagan would get more women's votes than Walter Mondale. The pollster also compares the gender gap to a pair of scissors. The smaller blade is the women's vote, the larger the men's vote. The two blades together will cut it, he says.

— Agent Orange is the deadly herbicide the United States sprayed on Vietnamese jungles to clear the foliage. After years of pressure, the Veterans Administration agreed to study the effects of Agent Orange on soldiers exposed to it. But only male veterans have been studied. Many of the women who served in Vietnam were also assigned to areas that were sprayed with the herbicide, which may cause miscarriages, stillbirths and birth defects. Finally, at the urging of Congress, the Veterans Administration will give women vets equal study at the federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

The best way to incorporate eating space into the core of a kitchen is to install a counter. Determine the length of the counter by multiplying the number of people who will be eating at it at one time by the 21-inch minimum table space that each adult requires for comfortable eating. Eating counters may either be part of a peninsula or a free-standing island. They can be one of three heights: A table-height counter should be 28-32 inches above the floor. An eating counter that is the same height as the rest of the kitchen counters — 36 inches — allows 24 inches for knee space. Bar height, 42 to 45 inches from the floor, works best in situations where the eating area backs a range or sink.

The beauty of an eating counter is that it can be used as a work area too. In addition, you can use the space below as storage. When building into or renovating your kitchen you want to get as many multi-purpose features as possible. At WINDSOR KITCHENS, we take your interest to heart and know what you really need. We are a flexible, professional and beautiful kitchen. Our staff is knowledgeable and will help you choose the right kitchen for you. We are located at 1000 Boston Ave., Woburn, Mass. 01801. The Bancroft Lions Defeated the Sanborn Sioux by a score of 10-1 in first round action of the Department of Community Services Floor Hockey Tournament. ## Floor Hockey Tourney Results

This year's Department of Community Services' Floor Hockey Tournament was held during February vacation. Nine teams participated. The following are the results:

Bancroft Lions 10 - Sanborn Sioux 1

This game was one of four high-scoring games in the tournament. Bancroft scored six goals in the first half with Eric Cutler and Billy Batchelder each scoring two goals. Michelle DiStefano scored the single for Sanborn at 2:09 of the second half. She turned in a superb performance in goal. Matt McVicar played an excellent game for Bancroft, scoring three goals.

West El Warriors 3 - Sanborn Hawks 2

Both teams turned in excellent overall performances. The game was a clean game, with no penalties. West Elementary's Shawn Ryan and Sanborn's Mike Pierro and Michael Forlizzi played well in goal, blocking and turning away many shots.

South School All-Stars 7

West El. Cougars 6

This was definitely a game that could be termed "a thriller." West Elementary outscored South 4-2 in the first half, but the tables were turned in the second half with South outscoring West and both teams drawing five penalties. Willy Dunning scored at 3:24 of the second overtime period to put South in the winner's circle.

South School Flyers 4 - West El. Mustangs 3

Both teams played hard, right down to the wire. At the end of the first half it was tied at 1-1, with goals by Keith Cutler for West and Brian Novelline (off of a penalty shot) for South. Chris Cashman scored two goals in the second half to bring the Flyers to a 4-3 win. Mike Pettoruto scored twice in the second half for West Elementary and altogether played a great game.

Sanborn Chiefs 8 - South School Flyers 0

The only shutout took place between these two teams. South played well, but they just couldn't keep up with the fast-paced Chiefs. Derek Camarota and Mike DiStefano turned in good performances with Camarota scoring three goals. Brian Novelline and Robert Dawley played for the Flyers. Sanborn's win eliminated the Flyers from the tournament.

South School All Stars 4 - Sanborn Chiefs 3

The Chiefs led 2-0 at 7:56 of the first half, but South came right back with Curt Solomon scoring two quick goals. Bryan Boucher scored early in the second half to put the All Stars ahead 3-2. After a hard-played period, Jim Hendry tied the game at three, but Bryan Boucher scored the game-winning goal to put the All Stars into the championship game.

Bancroft Lions 6 - West El. Warriors 1

Both teams played a hard-fought game, with lots of excitement. The Lions dominated the first half with Brent Raferty scoring two of the three first half goals. The Warriors got on the scoreboard with a goal by Brett Hammond with 5:00 left. The Warriors pulled their goalie with 47 seconds left, but Bancroft didn't score again. With a final score of 6-1, Bancroft advanced to the finals.

Sanborn Chiefs 9 - West El. Warriors 2

This was the consolation game and both teams played superbly. Sanborn dominated the first half, with Derek Camarota scoring two goals. The Chiefs led 3-0 at the half and really came alive in the second half, scoring six goals. Chris Pothier scored two quick goals at the beginning of the second half to put West on the board. All in all, both teams played an excellent game with West Elementary taking fourth place and Sanborn in third.

Bancroft Lions 8 - South School All Stars 1

The championship game was an exciting one with both teams playing very well. The first half of the game was penalty-free with Bancroft taking control by scoring five goals. The second half didn't have as many goals, but the penalties were high with three for South and two for Bancroft. Curt Solomon played an excellent game, scoring South's only goal late in the second half. Matt McVicar scored three of the goals for Bancroft. Ed Owens also turned in a superb game in goal for South.

Hoop Clinic Saturday; Shoot-A-Thon Set

First-year Andover High varsity basketball Coach Tom Ryser is conducting a pair of post-season events to help spur interest in the Golden Warriors' hoop program.

This Saturday, March 3, Ryser and his varsity players will hold a youth basketball clinic for boys and girls of all ages who reside in Andover.

The instructional clinic will run from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Andover High gym with Coach Ryser and the varsity players demonstrating various skills, techniques and fundamentals of the game.

The following Saturday, March 10, a special basketball "Shoot-A-Thon" will be staged at the high school gym to raise money for the AHS hoop program.

Varsity, JV and freshman players will participate, along with any other interested Andover youngsters.

Each boy or girl who signs up will be given a sponsor sheet and will be asked to obtain pledges.

The youngsters will then shoot 100 free throws apiece with a chart kept on how many they make. Sponsors will pay according to each shooter's success.

Shooters will be asked to be at the high school some time between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

All money raised will be used to help defray costs of the basketball program (banquets, etc.).

The liquid inside young coconuts has been used as a substitute for blood plasma in emergencies.

Rosemary Grams Works Year Round For Youth

(Editor's Note: The following is reprinted from the Massachusetts High School Football Coaches Association publication following presentation of the Distinguished Service Award to Mrs. Grams)

Every once in a while a community is blessed with an individual who not only makes an outstanding contribution to the youth of that community, but walks the extra mile in doing so. The town of Andover has just such a woman in the person of Rosemary Grams.

The Massachusetts State Football Coaches Association salutes Mrs. Grams for her contribution to youth and athletics and, in particular, to high school football.

Rosemary, a widow since 1978, has brought up four outstanding children. Sons Dan, Tim and Mark were all sport athletes at Andover High School, starring in football, track and baseball.

Dan and Tim are students at the University of Lowell while Mark, the youngest, overcoming a serious kidney ailment, just completed an outstanding year on the Andover football team being named recently a first-team wide receiver on the Merrimack Valley League All Star team.

Daughter Laura, a former cheerleader at Andover, is an honor student and cheerleader at Plymouth State College.

In the school year of 1981-82 Rosemary served as president of the Andover Football Parents Organization, a group that pays for game films, all scrimmages, sophomore games, the season-ending banquet and runs the concession stand at all Andover home games.

It was Rosemary who originally took over the running of the concession stand and was instrumental in building the Parents Organization to the point where it was able to soften considerably the blow of Proposition 2½ on Andover football. In addition, in that same year she also headed the Baseball Parents Organization and prior to that had served two years as president of the Andover Little League.

Two years ago it appeared that cheerleading at Andover would be another victim of 2½ when the School Committee dropped paid cheerleading coaches from the budget.

Once again it was Rosemary Grams who came to the rescue and took over as varsity cheerleading coach with no salary. For the past two years she has handled those duties, putting twice the time any of the paid coaches ever did, and has built the Andover cheerleaders into one of the finest squads in the state.

In addition to her activities in Andover and the commitment to bringing up her wonderful family, Rosemary's concern for youth is evident in her full-time employment. A nurse by profession, Rosemary works for a charitable organization based in Boston, specializing in child abuse cases.

How she can find time for all this is a mystery to many, but it is no mystery when one gets to know her. In this respect she is very much like a dedicated football coach.

If you asked her how much time she spends on all of her activities, her answer would be, "Whatever it takes."

Mother, nurse, coach, organizer, loyal supporter and concerned human being, all describe Rosemary Grams. The athletic program in Andover and the youth of the community would be severely hurting today were it not for her dedication and enthusiasm.

The Massachusetts State Football Coaches Association takes great pride in saluting Mrs. Rosemary Grams.

PROPERTY LOCATION

What would cost more, a lot on Manhattan Island or a similar sized lot in the middle of the Gobi Desert? That sounds like a ridiculous question and a person might answer, "Even one knows the New York lot would cost more!" But do they know that one still buys many homes of people willing to get out from the cities who go around and buy investment property of hundred acres, anywhere.

Real estate, meaning commercial investment properties - in and near population centers are more expensive for a reason that can be summed up in one word...people. They want to work near, be with, and interact with other individuals. That's why a typical real estate ad will usually say, "Close to transportation, shopping, recreational facilities, etc."

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 PUNCHARD AVE., ANDOVER. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Andover Hockey Association

Andover 5 - Chelsea 2

The Andover Squirt B's found themselves in a three-way tie for first place with Agawam and Chelsea at the start of the week.

After watching Agawam lose its game, Andover took to the ice knowing what had to be done.

With just six minutes to play in the opening period, Justin Hesenius' shot from the point was gathered in by Mike Walsh and fed to center Jay Coburn in the slot. Coburn, on his way to his third hat trick in four games, quickly put Andover on the board.

Chelsea tied it up in the second period, but with three minutes left on the clock, Ryan Moynihan converted a 2-on-1 pass from Jay Stella into a 2-1 lead.

Early in the final stanza, Coburn wheeled out of his own end and burst down ice to beat the Chelsea goalie for what proved to be the winning goal.

At the halfway mark of the period, Paul Allard's hustle and determination paid off. He outmuscled a Chelsea defender and slid the puck over to Coburn for his third goal of the game.

A goal by Chelsea narrowed the margin to two, but a goal by Steve Neal (assist Moynihan) ended any hope Chelsea had of getting back into the contest.

This 5-2 victory was the result of a strong two-way effort by the entire squad, but several good plays by defensemen John Constantine and Justin Hesenius in their own end and on the points were quite evident.

Credit must also be given to Ryan Moynihan who was assigned to shadow Chelsea's high scoring center for most of the game.

While fourth in scoring, Andover leads their division with the lowest goals against average of any Squirt B team in the Danvers League.

Named Manager At Raytheon

William H. Swanson has been named deputy plant manager for Raytheon Company's Andover facility.

A resident of Sudbury, he had been manufacturing manager for the company's equipment division plant in Waltham prior to assuming his new position. As deputy plant manager he will be responsible for the management of the manufacturing, production control, product assurance and engineering departments within the Andover plant.

Swanson joined Raytheon in 1972 as an industrial engineer in the electromagnetic systems division in California. He was later promoted to several different manufacturing positions prior to transferring to Waltham in 1977 where he held a series of increasingly more responsible management positions.

Swanson received a BS degree from California Polytechnic State University in 1972 and an MBA from Golden State University in 1977. He is a graduate of the Raytheon Middle Management, Engineering Management and Advanced Management programs.

Gillette Reports Sales Down

Sales of The Gillette Company for the year and the fourth quarter of 1983 were slightly lower than in the prior year. Profit from operations held at the 1982 level and net income advanced in both periods. Colman M. Mockler, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, said.

Sales for the year were $2,183,297,000, a decrease of 2 percent from $2,238,979,000 in 1982. Profit from operations was $319,215,000, even with $318,759,000 a year earlier. Pretax income was $238,776,000, up 6 percent from $224,600,000 in 1982. Net income was $145,876,000 compared with $135,100,000 the year before, an increase of 8 percent. Earnings per share of $4.78 compared with $4.45 a year earlier.

Lower net interest costs were an important contributor to the increase in net income.

Sales and operating profits of Gillette North America were virtually unchanged in 1983 from the previous year. Gillette International's sales were moderately lower, but operating profits were about the same as in 1982. Sales of Braun were moderately lower, but operating profits were well above those of last year. Sales of diversified companies were moderately higher and operating profits were well below the prior year.

For the fourth quarter ended December 31, 1983, sales declined 2 percent to $569,468,000, compared with $579,598,000 in 1982. Profit from operations was $79,378,000, down 1 percent from $80,434,000 the year before. Pretax income was $54,497,000, up 12 percent from $48,594,000 for the same period last year. Net income was $36,189,000, an increase of 11 percent from $32,509,000 a year earlier. Earnings per share were $1.18 compared with $1.07 in 1982.

Results for the fourth quarter, compared with the same period of the prior year, reflect lower net interest costs and lower non-operating charges.

Opening Andover Office

SPT Associates of Burlington, a commercial and industrial real estate brokerage company involved in the growing business community of Routes 128 and 495, with special attention to the Andover/Lawrence area, has opened a second office in Andover.

Samuel P. Thomas, president of SPT Associates, believes there is a need for a full time office in the area due to the increasing business activity represented by development of new space along Interstates 93 and 495 and the reuse of existing properties.

SPT Associates will be located at One Dundee Office Park, where they are the exclusive agents for more than 80,000 square feet of first-class renovated space.

Russia

People who know Russian should really use it for a good means," she maintains.

Few Americans do speak that "beautiful and very difficult" language, and the student finds that appalling. "The Russian people are amazed when they meet an American who speaks any Russian at all. That does bother me. Their top leaders know our language, but we don't know their language at all."

She adds that the least Americans can do is read Russian literature — "at least War and Peace" — to give them some understanding of the country.

The traveler looks forward to the next four months with great excitement. ("I've been packed for two weeks.") She grimaces at the thought of Moscow's starchy food, except for the ice cream that students live on ("it's delicious and cheap"), and she already plans to leave her blue jeans behind when she heads home (foreign jeans are a top status symbol in the U.S.S.R.).

She is eager to see once again the country's beautiful "architecture of the past", its "fantastic" art museums, its opulent palaces left over from the age of Peter the Great — and especially Red Square. Ringed by glistening onion-domed churches, "I think it's the most beautiful thing in the world. Even the Kremlin has a beauty of its own. I love Red Square

I abhor their system, the lack of human rights," Kimberly Lilly says of the Soviet Union. "But there is so much beauty there, so much good there. Just being with the Russian people again ... I'm really excited about the whole trip

Editor's Note: Kimberly Lilly will write about her experiences in the Soviet Union for the TOWNSMAN when she returns home next summer.

Gallery Upholstering And Interior Decorating

Give your furniture new life! If re-decorating is your way of chasing away the winter blues, don't replace that old sofa or chair with expensive new ones. Call Bob Silveira at Gallery Upholstering and Interior Decorating at 689-0454 for a free estimate and a no obligations appointment about reupholstering your furniture.

A professional, top quality reupholstering can give your furniture the new look for which you've been looking as well as extend your furniture's life. Choose from a host of popular colors in the latest fabrics in such a variety of combinations that there is sure to be something to match your decor.

Many of the finest homes, businesses and restaurants in the North Shore area have come to depend upon the courteous, professional service available from Gallery Upholstering's nine skilled craftsmen. Gallery Upholstering also does commercial and institutional decorating bids and specializes in fire estimates as well as evaluations of any damage suffered in moving furniture.

Bob Silveira believes in the quality of older furniture. "Most new furniture lacks the structural quality that makes older pieces last and last."

And Bob maintains that quality by hand cutting, hand stitching and hand matching patterns to produce a better quality piece than furniture which is manufactured by piece work on a machine.

With many years of experience, Mr. Silveira makes it his business to produce top quality reupholstering. He started in the upholstering business at the age of 13 and then continued his education at Lowell Technical Institute where he learned about fabrics and fiber construction. After majoring in interior design at the Pratt Institute of Design in New York, Bob became an interior decorator and consultant for Gilchrist Department Store in Boston. He opened Gallery Upholstering after spending 12 years in association with Pride Upholstering. Now he puts all those years of experience to work

When you're ready to give your furniture (or entire room) a new look, call the professionals. Call Gallery Upholstering for a convenient reupholstering appointment at 689-0454.

Program Advisor Will Return To Classroom

One of Andover's program advisors will resign from that position at the end of the school year to return to her former position as a classroom teacher, with the School Committee's approval.

The committee last week approved the resignation, effective June 30, of science program advisor Rita Petrella, as well as her transfer to her former work as a science teacher next year.

A special needs teacher will also resign from the Andover schools, with the committee's approval. Gerald Schimmel of West Junior High, who has worked in the schools since March 1978, will leave next month to accept other employment.

A permanent substitute appointed to Doherty Junior High last month as part of the temporary plans to fill in for departed assistant superintendent Charles Mitsakos has declined the appointment. Jean Coleman has turned down the position for the school year as business education permanent substitute; she was to replace K. Pellerin.

In her place, the committee approved the appointment of Caroline Curley of Salem as a permanent substitute in business education at Doherty through the end of the school year. She will replace K. Pellerin, who has been named acting assistant principal for the rest of the school year.

Sandra Lewis of Framingham was named a permanent substitute in foreign language in Doherty, through June.

Lionel Drouin of Lawrence was appointed a junior custodian, second shift, at West Junior High. He has been working as a temporary custodian since last September.

And Charles MacNicholl of Lawrence was named a junior custodian, second shift, at the high school. He has also been serving as a temporary custodian since September.

The first airplane to officially exceed the speed of sound was the Bell X-1, flown October 14, 1947, by Major Charles E. Yeager.
